

Sanctions Policy

1. Introduction

This policy outlines the guidelines and procedures which ESE will follow when dealing with individuals or institutes who work or reside in countries that are subject to financial sanctions from the UK Government (see Appendix 1).

3. Principles

Access to content under current contracts has not been withdrawn. Authors from Russia and Belarus can continue to submit their work. Editors will follow usual practice on “Fair Play”: “The editor should evaluate manuscripts for their intellectual content without regard to race, gender, sexual orientation, religious belief, ethnic origin, citizenship, or political philosophy of the authors.”.
Journals – Endocrine Connections	Articles permitted from sanctioned countries however, any articles that include a sanctioned individual or sanctioned institute will not be published.

4. Financial Payments

ESE will not transfer funds (eg, for a grant, award or expenses) to any third parties, with the exception that payments can be made to the awardee’s institution or organisation.

For payments to an individual/awardee the bank account must be in the name of the individual who is receiving the payment. Payments can be made to the individuals institution.

If the payment is to an institution or organisation then supporting documentation, such as a letter head document containing the banking information must be supplied.

Payments are not permitted to individuals, institutes or organisations which are under financial sanctions from the UK Government. In the interest of clarity, ESE will not make payments to an individual who is sanctioned whether to them as an individual or their institution or organisation nor we will make payments to an institution or organisation if it is subject to sanctions, even if the individual is not subject to financial sanctions from the UK Government.

5. Review and Amendments

This Sanctions Policy will be reviewed periodically to ensure its continued compliance.

6. Acknowledgment

By participating in ESE activities, individuals, institute or organisation are deemed to have read and agreed with the conditions of this Sanctions Policy.

7. Communication

This Sanctions Policy will be made available to all through the ESE website and other appropriate channels.
